PUBLISHING YOUR ART HISTORICAL RESEARCH IN THE UNITED STATES

TUESDAY MARCH 31, 2015, 4PM

EMILY D. SHAPIRO, EXECUTIVE EDITOR OF AMERICAN ART

While each journal or book publisher is unique, publishing in the United States does have a common set of conventions and expectations. Please join Emily D. Shapiro, executive editor of the scholarly journal American Art, co-published by the Smithsonian American Art Museum and the University of Chicago Press, for a presentation and discussion about publishing your art historical research in U.S.-based venues.

The workshop will address the basics of preparing a journal article or book manuscript, how to identify and approach publishers, and how to maximize the chances of publication. It will also provide an overview of the selection and publishing processes. Ample time will be allotted for questions from attendees.

The workshop is designed for doctoral students and postdoctoral researchers in art history seeking to publish their work or in the process of readying a proposal or manuscript.

Free entrance, seating subject to availability.

Please RSVP before March 27, by email information@terraamericanart.eu or by telephone +33 1 43 20 67 01.
