Form, Art and the Environment

Engaging in Sustainability

Nathalie Blanc, Université Paris Diderot, France. and Barbara L. Benish, ArtMill: Center for Sustainable Creativity, Czech Republic

Series: Routledge Studies in Culture and Sustainable Development

This book investigates how community arts, environmental creativity, and the changing role of artists in the Polis contribute to the goal of a sustainable future from a number of interdisciplinary perspectives. From considering the role that art works play in revealing local environmental problems such as biodiversity, public transportation and energy issues, to examining the way in which artists and art works enrich our multidimensional understanding of culture and sustainable development, Form, Art and the Environment advocates the inestimable value of art as an expressive force in promoting sustainable culture and conscious development. Utilising a broad range of case studies and analysis from a body of work collected through the international environmental COAL prize, this book examines the evolution of the relationship between culture and the environment.
