About ELPUB

ELPUB CONFERENCE

The International Conference on Electronic Publishing conference (ElPub) has featured research results in various aspects of digital publishing for over two decades, involving a diverse international community of researchers across the disciplines in the sciences and the humanities, librarians, developers, publishers, entrepreneurs and administrators.

It is unique as a platform for both researchers, professionals and the broader community.

The Conference is held annually and contains a multi-track presentation of refereed papers as well invited keynotes, special sessions, demonstrations, and poster presentations.

800+ papers published

50+ countries represented
ELPUB 2019

ELPub 2019 will celebrate the cultural diversity in all aspects of the transmission and perception of the written, spoken and illustrated word.

Taking as an inspirational starting point the concept of bibliodiversity, a term coined by Chilean publishers in the 1990s, the forum will revisit its definition and explore what it means today.

Being organised five years after the adoption of the International Declaration of Independent Publishers to Promote and Strengthen Bibliodiversity Together, supported in 2014 by 400 publishers from 45 countries, the conference aims to bring together the enquiring academic, professional and publishing industry minds keen to explore the ever evolving nature of the knowledge transmission within human societies.

This year, ElPub will take place in Marseille, France
June 02 - 04, 2019
ELPub 2019 will take place at the Palais du Pharo, a centerpiece of historic architecture located on the heights of Marseille's Old Port.

The Palais du Pharo (Pharo Palace) is a beautiful palace built in 1858, at the request of the Emperor Napoleon III for his wife, the Empress Eugénie. Lying a short walk away from the city centre and a wide variety of accommodation options, the Palais du Pharo is the ideal place to host ELPub 2019.

CONFERENCE VENUE
CO-ORGANIZERS

ELPub 2019 Conference is organized by eight prestigious institutions.

The Ministry of Higher Education, Research and Innovation (MESRI) is a government department of France overseeing higher education and research.

The French National Centre for Scientific Research (CNRS) is among the world’s leading research institutions. Internationally recognised for the excellence of its scientific research, the CNRS is a reference in the world of research and development, as well as for the general public.

OpenEdition is a comprehensive digital publishing infrastructure at the service of scientific information in the Humanities and social Sciences. The OpenEdition portal includes tens of thousands of scientific documents that promote open access, while respecting the economic equilibrium of publications.

The Center for Direct Scientific Communication (CCSD) works for the researchers’ communities and their institutional environment. Its main mission is to provide tools, in the respect of open access principles, for archiving and the dissemination of scientific publications and data.
CO-ORGANIZERS

Huma-Num aims at supporting research communities by providing services, assessment and tools on digital research data. Huma-Num offers a variety of platforms and tools for the processing, conservation, dissemination and long-term preservation of digital research data.

Persée is a digital library of open access, mostly French-language scholarly journals, established by the Ministry of National Education of France. It is one of the largest francophone portals dedicated to human and social sciences, with about 600,000 documents freely available.

Inria, the French research institute for digital sciences, promotes scientific excellence and technology transfer to maximise its impact. Inria works with many companies and has assisted in the creation of over 160 startups.

Métopes is an infrastructure designed for publishers and to serve the editorial activities of all higher education and research institutions. It provides methods and a set of tools to enable the creation of structured editorial content repositories and to help scholarly publishers to manage the transformation of the publishing and distribution functions in keeping as closely as possible with their goals- and missions of research results and datas dissemination.
We offer different sponsorship levels: bronze, silver, gold and platinum.
