

UrbaChina Newsletter

UrbaChina, a FP7 programme coordinated by CNRS-EHESS

2014-26 (June)

Nanhui city

edited by Jacqueline Nivard

This circular city, which formally went by the names Luchao Harbor City and Lingang, is a satellite development 60 km from the core of Shanghai in the far southeastern corner of Pudong.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/10119>

Jiaju, a remote Tibetan village confronted with tourism

written by Oriane Pillet

Pictures taken in June 2014 in Jiaju, a village inhabited by Jiarong communities, a Tibetan minority, located in the mountains above the valley of Danba in western Sichuan.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/10172>

Who is the collective? (I)

written by Miguel Elosua

One of the most debated questions regarding land rights in China among Chinese scholars is clarifying the concept of the collective as a holder of land rights.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/10161>

Low carbon eco-city: new approach for Chinese urbanisation

edited by Monique Abud

‘This paper critically analyses the Chinese low carbon eco-city development, viewing it as a process.’

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/10082>

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/>
urbachina-edition@services.cnrs.fr

 UrbaChina
 @UrbaChina

UrbaChina Newsletter

Neighbourhood governance in urban China

edited by Monique Abud

Edited by Ngai-Ming Yip (City University of Hong Kong) and published by Edward Elgar.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/9960>

Peter Daniels interviewed by Chongqing Youth News

edited by Chi-Han Ai

On 28 May 2014, Peter Daniels, member of UrbaChina project, was interviewed by Chongqing Youth News in the 4th Urbachina international conference in Chongqing.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/10141>

China's urbanization 2020: a new blueprint and direction

edited by Sebastien Goulard

Kam Wing Chan (2014). China's urbanization 2020: a new blueprint and direction. Eurasian Geography and Economics.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/10113>

UrbaChina Newsletter

Funded under the European Commission's Seventh Framework Programme, UrbaChina is a collaborative project managed by a consortium of 11 leading Chinese and European research institutions. UrbaChina analyses China's urbanisation trends for the next 40 years and define possible future scenarios with reference to concepts of sustainability.

Members:

- CNRS
- East China Normal University
- Development Research Centre
- University of Birmingham
- Chinese Academy of Social Sciences
- LSE
- Chinese Academy of Sciences
- ISIS
- University of Lisbon
- People's University
- Anhui academy of Environmental Science Research